

Maudsley Lectures in Psychoanalysis

Autumn term 2019: The unconscious and dreaming

Institute
of Psychoanalysis

- 30 September David Bell
What is psychoanalysis: the discovery of the unconscious and its implications
- 7 October Tamar Schonfeld
Dream as Transitional Space
- 14 October Sharon Numa
Idealization and Illusion: Denial of Loss and the Evasion of Psychic Reality.
- 21 October Half term
- 28 October Narendra Keval
The Suicidal Mind: From Inner Torment to Emotional Freedom
- 4 November Gigliola Fornari Spoto
Access to our inner world through dreams: overcoming inhibition
- 11 November Francesca Hume
'Where shall the word be found, where will the word resound?'
Absence of resonance and the struggle to find the right register.
- 18 November Rob Tandy
Psychoanalytic approaches to dreaming: the Royal Road
- 25 November Nicola Abel-Hirsch
"Freud says Aristotle states that a dream is the way the mind works in sleep: I say it is the way it works when awake" (Bion Cogitations) - Bion, alpha function and the unconscious mind
- 2 December Tomasz Fortuna
Tension at the Border: is phantasy a reality?
- 9 December Gregorio Kohon
Considering the nature of psychoanalysis: the persistence of a paradoxical discourse

Spring term 2020: Identity

Coming Soon

Please note: The Institute of Psychoanalysis reserves the right to change any details of this programme without notice